THE BARKENTINE AMELIA IN WITH NORTH WEST LUMBER.

Shipping at Hamburg—Barkentine Echo Anchors Off Port—J A Cummins In—Kaena Arrives.

Arrived at Port Townsend, Aug 21, bark Chas B Kenny.

The barkentine Irmgard returns to Honolulu from San Francisco.

The American barkentine Amelia, Willer master, 26 days from Port Blakely with lumber for Allen & Robinson docked at that firm's wharf this morning.

The American four-masted barkentine Echo, Chas E Foye master, 20 days from Chemainus, B C, with a cargo of lumber for Tientsin, China, anchored off port this morning for mail and "a little medicine for the boys." She will probably sail this evening.

The Hawaiian bark Roderick Dhu, which sailed from San Francisco on August 20, took away the largest individual cargo that has ever left that port for Hilo. She took away over 2000 tons of general merchandise, and even then had to leave several consignments on the wharf.

The brig W G Irwin sailed for Hawaii yesterday, says The Call of the 21st ult, and the brig John D Spreckels will follow her today. Captain Christensen says he will catch the Irwin before she has gone a thousand miles and will beat her into port twenty-four hours. The captains have a bet of a suit of clothes on the outcome of the run.

A new line of clipper ships, to be supplanted in a year by five new steamers to be named after California counties, has just been established by a new Eastern corporation, known as the Atlantic and Pacific Transportation Company, for the purpose of carrying freight by way of the Horn between New York and San Francisco and other Pacific Coast ports.

In the port of Hamburg previous to last year the British flag was always in the majority, its proportion being for several years about 45 per cent of all the flags represented there. Last year, however, according to official statistics, the German flag outnumbered the British flag considerably, viz, German flag, 2,914,913 tons; British flag, 2,734,528 tons. For 1895 the figures were: German flag, 2,771,392 tons; British flag, 2,852,363.

HILLO POLITICS.

Col. Little Makes a Few Observations on Aspirants.

Col. G. F. Little of Hilo said as he was leaving for home:

"Attorney General Smith and Sheriff Lorrin A. Andrews and other friends treat their Hilo enemies—who by the way are about as small a set of small men as you could well find—on the principle that—

"If a liar accuseth thee of evil, be not swift to answer. Yea, rather give him license for a while; it shall help thee honor afterward, as never yet was calumny engendered but good men speedily discerned it. And innocence hath burst forth from its injustice, as the green world rolling out of chaos."

Speaking of the election for Representatives in the Hilo district, Col. Little also said: "Mr. Jones and Mr. Richards will be elected without any trouble. You must accord the people of Hilo the possession of good sense enough not to stultify themselves by sending men to the Legislature who cannot govern themselves—loud-mouthed ranters who recognize no principle but self."

Southeastern Europe now has millions of people who are far less advanced than the Japanese.

Among the arrivals in the Peru yesterday were three young women missionaries destined for Japan: Miss Georgiana Bancroft, Miss Margaret Scott and Miss E. E. Dickinson, who all hail from Grand Rapids, Michigan.

Held By Americans.

Paul J. Henning, Joseph E. Moore and Charles Anton Johnson, with an armament of pistols and shovels, held Clipperton island in the North Pacific against Captain William McMurtry of the British ship Kinkora wrecked there, who wanted to hoist the British flag in place of the Stars and Stripes over the island. The Americans also claimed the million feet of lumber making up the Kinkora's cargo as wreckage belonging to their employers. Captain H. H. Dyke in the British gunboat Comus visited the island, and, though surprised at seeing the American flag flying, did not interfere with it.

The Favorite is a favorite indeed. What makes it so? Why the gentlemanly attendants and the fine liquors that are dispensed there.
